Coach Standard Features and Construction

- A national award winning, jet-age styled, molded fiberglass exterior provides rust proof permanence and lasting beauty.
- Three, two inch tubular steel roll bars plus two more in the cabover bed area and two inch tubular steel frame members laminated into the fiberglass roof provide strength and safety.
- As an added safety feature, all counter and table corners are rounded and cabinets have adjustable self-closing hinges.
- Solid wood is fiberglassed between wood and steel cross members in the one piece fiberglass roof, together with aluminum backed fiberglass insulation between 2½" double wall construction provides excellent strength and incorporates a dead air insulation principle.
- The floor is fiberglass both top and bottom on a solid wood core to prevent termites, corrosion and dry rot from road chemicals and moisture.
- Walls and ceiling are covered with cloth with foam backing for additional insulation, wind and road sound-proofing, superb acoustics, easy maintenance, reduction of condensation "sweating", and a cushioning effect for safety, which also further enhances Born Free's cozy luxurious decor.
- Visibility from inside is almost unlimited with huge tinted rear and side windows, plus a dark quadruple tinted panoramic front sky view window.
- Also provided is a pop out window in the rear of the motorhome for emergency use.
- Screens are standard on the entrance door and on jalousie style crankout windows on each side.
- Adjustable 14 x 14" roof vents are lighted and are complete with fans which provide additional fresh air ventilation and lighting.
- The kitchen is so conveniently arranged that getting and preparing food from the refrigerator and pantry, cooking, plus washing dishes and storing them, can virtually be accomplished without moving.
- Solid wood, oak cabinets are standard throughout and no particle board is ever used in a Born Free.
- Dining/seating is in elegant style, and there is a floor plan ideally planned to satisfy your needs. All coach furniture and sofa are Flexsteel's highest quality. Beds are therapeutically correct.
- Mechanically, the Born Free® MotorCoach is engineered to meet or exceed federal and state code requirements with plumbing, heating and electrical installations complying with ANSI Code A119.2.
- The master electrical system is a 45 Amp 115V/12V automatic converter and a battery charger containing all fuses and breaker switches and includes a 30 foot - 30 Amp standard power cord.
- Water and gas lines are located above the floor for easy access and inspection as well as to facilitate freeze resistance.
- Wiring runs through the cabinets under false bottoms for quick access or inspection.
- Born Free® MotorCoach meets or exceeds Recreational Vehicle Industry Association (R.V.I.A.) standards.
- Born Free MotorCoaches are built by teams not in the standard assembly line fashion. This way, quality, craftsmanship and a sense of individual pride goes into each and every Born Free model.
- All Born Free® President MotorCoaches feature a kingsize cabover bed. Furnished with a 66" x 82" mattress of 6" foam, it is covered with matching decor fabric. A convenient reading light is also provided in this area.
- Every Born Free® goes through a factory check out and is put through a water bath to check for leaks. All appliances are activated and checked. Water is placed in holding tanks and checked for leaks. Propane tank is filled and all systems are winterized when delivered in cold weather.
- Unless picked up at the factory, all Born Free's are driven to distribution points instead of being transported. Road testing is your best assurance of a properly functioning unit.
